About this workbook

Introduction

This workbook has been written for students who are planning to sit either the Academic or General Training modules of the IELTS examination. It covers some of the main vocabulary areas that you will need for, or come across in, the Listening, Reading, Writing and Speaking sections of the exam.

We hope that you find the exercises in this book useful, and that the vocabulary you acquire will help you to achieve the grade you want in the IELTS.

Good luck!

Structure of the book

Each vocabulary area is presented in the form of a self-contained module with task-based activities which present each vocabulary item in context.

- Pages 1 57 focus on general vocabulary items. Some of these are relevant to specific tasks or questions in the IELTS examination (for example, describing how something works, talking about changes shown in a graph or table, saying where things are and following directions).
- Pages 58 104 focus on topic-specific vocabulary areas which may be required in the examination (for example, education, architecture, family matters and science and technology). Each module consists of three tasks: the first two present vocabulary items in context, each with a practice or recognition exercise, and the third gives you the opportunity to review the vocabulary in a gap-fill exercise.
- Pages 105 124 contain a comprehensive key so you can check your answers. The answer key also gives additional information about specific vocabulary items or general vocabulary areas, as well as other useful words or phrases.

Using the workbook

You should not work through the book mechanically from beginning to end. It is better to choose areas that you are unfamiliar with, or areas that you feel are of specific interest or importance to yourself.

Recording, reviewing and extending your vocabulary

Remember that you should keep a record of new words, phrases and expressions that you acquire, and review these on a regular basis so that they become part of your active vocabulary. Also remember that there are other ways of acquiring new vocabulary. For example, you should read as much as possible from a variety of authentic reading materials (books, newspapers, magazines, web-based articles, etc.).

Using an English dictionary

To help you develop your vocabulary more effectively, you should use a good monolingual English dictionary. This should clearly explain what the words mean, show you how they are pronounced, show you their various forms where relevant (e.g., what the noun form of an adjective is), tell you which words or phrases they collocate with, and give sample sentences to show you how the words are used. We particularly recommend the Macmillan English Dictionary for Advanced Learners (ISBN 978-1405026284). A free on-line version of this can also be found at www.macmillandictionary.com.

The International English Language Testing System (IELTS)

The IELTS is administered by the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), the British Council and IDP Education Australia. For further information, visit www.ucles.org.uk. Note that this book is not endorsed by any of these organisations.

When we see a new word (in a reading passage, for example), we can often work out what it means, or get an idea of what it means, by looking at the context in which it appears (for example, what is the passage about, what is the sentence about and what information comes before and after the word?).

Identifying the meaning of a word from its context is an especially useful skill in the IELTS Reading Test.

1 Look at these words, and answer the questions which follow.

nocturnal cites coherently feat

1. Without seeing them in a sentence, do you know (or can you guess) what the words in the box mean?

nocturnal:

Yes / No

cites:

Yes / No

coherently:

feat:

Yes / No

2. Now look at the words in the passage. Can you guess what they mean now? In your own words, explain what they might mean.

The remarkable success of Simon Weber's book on owls, bats, foxes and other nocturnal creatures, A Call in the Dark, is probably not surprising in view of the popularity of his recent television series, 'Night Prowlers'. It is a very thorough book by an author who is an expert in his field and who has clearly done a lot of research. In addition to describing his own findings, he cites the research carried out by others, including Wright and Lawson in the 1990s, and discusses where they might have gone wrong with some of their assumptions. He writes coherently on the subject, beginning by looking at basic facts before discussing progressively complex theories, without once confusing his readers. This is a remarkable feat, considering the complexity of the subject and the science that is often involved.

- 14. The city centre has some beautiful old buildings, but there are some extremely ugly industrial estates on the fringe.
- 15. Employees are encouraged to use their initiative when they are faced with a problem and there is nobody more senior there to help them.

3 Now match the words in bold in sentences 1 – 15 above with their definitions (a) – (o) below.

| (a) | A serious or difficult responsibility that you have to deal with. burden |
|-------------|--|
| (b) | Producing a lot of things, ideas, etc |
| (c) | The ability to decide what to do in an independent way |
| (d) | Able to quickly become healthy, happy or strong again |

Sometimes, in addition to its context, we can work out what a word means from 'clues' in the word itself. These clues are usually in the form of one or two words (or parts of words) that we already know, often with the addition of prefixes and / or suffixes.

For example:

Healthcare = health + care

The town lacks basic healthcare facilities, so people have to travel many miles to see a doctor.

Deforestation = de + forest + ation.

Deforestation has resulted in the destruction of thousands of acres of tropical forest.

Facial = face + ial (the e is removed)

The company started off producing a range of facial cleansers and moisturisers which had not been tested on animals.

The verbs and particles in the two boxes can be combined to make phrasal verbs, which can then be used to complete the sentences below.

Decide which phrasal verbs go into each sentence, and write the answers in the crossword grid. In many cases, you will need to change the form of the verb. The meaning of each phrasal verb is in italics at the end of each sentence.

Don't forget that some phrasal verbs need two particles.

The first one has been done as an example.

Presenting an argument

Look at this typical IELTS Writing Test Part 2 question and the sample answer which follows it. Underline the most appropriate words and phrases in bold in the answer. In several cases, both options are possible.

Write about the following topic:

Some say that young people should take a break between school and university to go travelling and learn more about the world. Others say that it is better for them to go straight to university from school, and then go travelling when they have finished their studies.

Discuss both these views and give your own opinion.

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your own knowledge and experience.

Write at least 250 words.

These days, it is very common for young people to take time off studying between school and university. Many of them go travelling, and spend a year or longer visiting interesting and exotic places. (1) But / However, is it better to do this, or to continue studying without a break?

- (2) First of all / Firstly, there are several benefits to taking time off to travel.
- (3) As well as / In addition to meeting lots of interesting people, you can also experience cultures that are very different from your own. (4) I believe / I think that first-hand knowledge and experience of the world around you early in life are useful things to have.
- (5) Moreover / Furthermore, you learn to look after yourself in different and often difficult situations. (6) Although / While few people have serious problems when they travel, you will occasionally encounter situations where you need to think and act quickly without having friends or family to turn to. Unfortunately, travelling has its disadvantages (7) also / as well, such as homesickness and culture shock. (8) Despite / Nevertheless, these inconveniences are an inevitable part of travelling and are greatly outweighed by the advantages.
- (9) The most important reason / The main reason for going straight to university after school is the fact that the sooner you get qualifications, the quicker you can get a job and start earning.

 (10) As far as I am concerned / For me, starting work and making money is one of the most important things in life. I am not alone in this opinion. (11) Many consider / Many say a sound career and a good salary to be one of life's most important goals. (12) Second / Secondly, if you go straight to university, you learn so many things that will help you in your future life.

 (13) Eventually / Finally, going straight to university from school means that you maintain a momentum that you might lose if you go travelling. (14) I mean / In other words, you remain focused on studying.
- (15) In conclusion / To summarise, I would say that spending a year travelling between school and university has its advantages and disadvantages. (16) On the one hand / To begin, you are seeing something of the world. (17) After that / On the other hand, you are delaying your education and career. (18) In my opinion / I opinion that, it is better to carry on with your studies, and leave the travelling until later.

- 1. Mimi Latouche is getting a little too old for this kind of thing, and as I watched her pirouette across the stage in a tutu two sizes too small, she reminded me not so much of a swan as a rather ungainly crow.
- 2. The scenery was wonderful. The costumes were marvellous. The cast were incredible. I wish I could say the same about the script. The playwright should be shot.
- 3. In his new book on Ernest Hemingway, acclaimed writer Michael Norris has brought the great man to life in a way nobody else could.
- 4. Move over Michelangelo! You have a rival. Vittorio Manelleto's marble pieces embody the human form in a way that has not been achieved in over 500 years.
- 5. I had to study the picture for almost two minutes before I realised who it was. It was none other than our Queen. I doubt she would have been amused.
- 7. Herbert von Erding has been conducting now for almost 40 years, and his final appearance yesterday was greeted with a standing ovation from both musicians and members of the audience.
- 8. Stone Angel is an hilarious tale about the fall and rise of an opera singer. I picked it up and didn't put it down until I had finished. A fantastic book.
- 9. Dylan Thomas showed remarkable eloquence, and this latest compilation of some of his finest prose will surely be a bestseller.
- 10. Bruschetta's studies of dead animals might not be to everyone's taste, but it is impossible to deny his skill in representing inanimate objects like these on canvas.
- 11. He usually works in black and white, and in my opinion that's the medium he should stick to. His colour shots are too static and are heavily over-filtered, the strong lighting washes out any subtlety, and much of it is out of focus.

3 Now look at this extract from a magazine article and complete the gaps with one of the words or phrases from Exercises 1 and 2. In some cases, more than one answer may be possible.

A cure for the future in the past? For over 50 years, the people of Britain have relied on the 1...... to make sure they have adequate health services. But now the National Health Service is sick. Government 2..... and 3...... are forcing hospitals to close, and waiting lists for treatment are getting longer. Under such circumstances, it is no surprise that more people are turning to private (but expensive) healthcare. For some, however, there are alternatives. They are turning their backs on modern pills, tablets and 5...... (the old-fashioned cures that our grandparents relied on) is making a comeback. Consider these case studies: Maude is 76 and has been suffering from 6...... for almost 10 years. "The inflammation in my joints was almost unbearable, and my doctor referred me to a 7...... at the London Hospital. I was told that I needed 8....., but would need to wait for at least two years before I could have the operation. In desperation, I started having massage sessions. To my surprise, these were very 9......, and while they didn't cure the disorder, they did relieve it to some extent." Ron is 46. His high-powered city job was responsible for a series of 10...... illnesses, and the drugs he took did little to relieve the nervous strain. "I read about treatments which involve the whole person rather than the individual 11......, but I had always been sceptical about 12....... However, my friend recommended a dietician who advised me that part of my problem was 13.....-related. Basically, the foods I was eating were contributing to my disorder. She gave me a list of foods that would provide the right 14...... and 15...... to keep me in good health. At the same time, she recommended a more 16......lifestyle – running, swimming, that kind of thing. I'm a bit of a couch potato, and the 17......lifestyle I had lived was compounding the problem. Now I feel great!" So is there still a place in our lives for modern medicine? While it is true that some infections and viruses may be prevented by resorting to alternative medicine, more serious illnesses such as 18.....need more drastic measures. We do need our health service at these times, and we shouldn't stop investing in its future. But we mustn't forget that for some common illnesses, the cure may lie in the past.

Financial advice from a father to a son.

Money & finance

The play was written over 400 years ago, but today many parents would give similar advice to their children. Imagine the conversation they would have now: Son: Right, Dad, I'm off to university now. Father: All right, son, but let me give you some sound financial advice before you go. Son: Oh come on, Dad..... Father: Now listen, this is important. The first thing you should do is to make sure you balance your 3..... - the money you receive from me - and your 4..... - the money you spend. If you spend too much, you will end up with an 5..... at the bank. Don't expect me to pay it for you. Son: up all the time. 7..... is running at about 10 per cent. Father: much higher rate of 10...... than banks. Also, avoid buying things 11...... Son: Why? Father: Because shops charge you an 12..... amount of money to buy things over a period of time. It's much better to 13...... a little bit of money each week so that when you see something you want, you can buy it outright. Try to wait for the sales, when shops offer huge 14..... and you can pick up a 15...... And try to get a 16...... Son: How do I do that? Easy. When you buy something, ask the shop if they'll lower the price by, say, 10 per cent. Next, Father: when you eventually get a job and are earning a good salary, try to 17...... the money in a good company. Buy 18..... in government organisations or 19.....in private companies. Son: OK, Dad, I've heard enough. Father: One final piece of advice, son. Son: What's that, Dad? Father: To thine own self be true. You what? Son:

3 Now look at this essay and fill in the gaps with one of the words or phrases from Exercises 1 and 2. In some cases, more than one answer will be possible. You may need to change some of the word forms.

'Technology has come a long way in the last 50 years, and our lives have become better as a result. Or have they?'

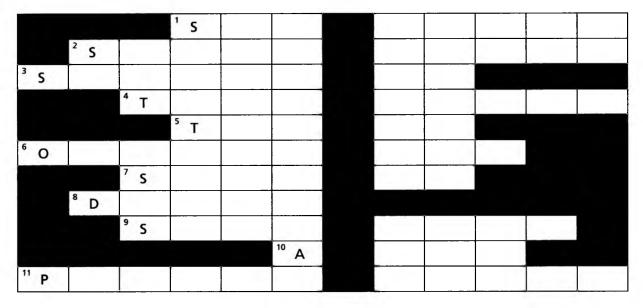

| The last 50 years have seen more changes than in the previous 200. There have been many remarkable |
| advances in medicine and medical technology that have helped to increase our |
| average 1 ancestors. Incredible |
| 2 such as satellite television have changed the way we spend our |
| leisure hours. Perhaps the most important 3 , however, has been the |
| microchip. Nobody could have imagined, when it was first 4, |
| that within a matter of years, this tiny piece of silicon and circuitry would be found in almost |
| every household object from the kettle to the video recorder. And nobody could have predicted |
| the sudden proliferation of computers that would completely change our lives, allowing us to |
| access information from the other side of the world via the 5 or |
| send messages around the world by 6 at the touch of a button. |
| Meanwhile, 7 into other aspects of information technology is |
| making it easier and cheaper for us to talk to friends and relations around the world. Good |
| news for 8 who love modern technology, bad news for the |
| 9 who would prefer to hide from these modern miracles. |
| F. S. |
| But everything has a price. The development of 10 led to mass |
| automation in factories, which in turn led to millions losing their jobs. The genius of Einstein led |
| indirectly to the threat of nuclear war and the dangerous uncertainties of 11 |
| (we hear of accidents and mishaps at nuclear power stations around the world, where |
| 12to prevent accidents were inadequate). The relatively new science of |
| 13has been seen as a major step forward, but putting modified foods |
| on to the market before scientists had properly 14 them was perhaps |
| one of the most irresponsible decisions of the 1990s. Meanwhile, pharmaceutical companies continue |
| to 15 |
| to 15on animals, a move that many consider to be cruel and unnecessary. |

Of course we all rely on modern science and technology to improve our lives. However, we need to make sure that we can control it before it controls us.

For seven years I lived in Singapore, a 1...... of almost three million people.

| Like London, Paris and New York, Singapore is a 2city, with people from |

Pages 3 – 4 Changes 1

⇒ The words and phrases in this module are particularly useful for Part 1 of the IELTS Writing Test, where you may be asked to write about changes shown in tables or graphs.

increased / rose / went up (in any order), fell / dropped / went down / declined (in any order), remained steady / remained constant (in either order),
 fluctuated / peaked at / reached a peak of (in either order)

- 1. gradually / steadily (in either order), 2. slightly, 3. dramatically / sharply (in either order),
- 4. upward trend

The number of visitors to Seahaven (1) increased / rose / went up (2) gradually / steadily between April and June, then (3) increased / rose / went up (4) dramatically / sharply in July, and continued to (5) go up / increase / rise in August. For the first four months, visitor numbers to Bridgeport (6) fluctuated, but then (7) dropped / fell / declined / decreased / went down (8) dramatically / sharply in the final month. Westhampton visitor numbers (9) remained constant / remained steady from April to June, then (10) increased / rose / went up (11) slightly in July and finally (12) peaked at / reached a peak of 11,000 in August.

Overall, there was an (13) upward trend in the number of visitors to Seahaven and Westhampton, but a (14) downward trend in the number of people visiting Bridgeport.

(Remember to vary your vocabulary in Writing tasks. Try not to use the same word too often. If, for example, you use increase in one part, use rise in another, and go up in another.)

- * We can omit that after providing, provided and on condition. We can also use the before condition.

Note: All of these sentences can also begin with the conditional word or phrase. For example: You can borrow my dictionary providing that you return it before you go home = Providing that you return it before you go home, you can borrow my dictionary. When we do this, we are shifting the emphasis of the sentence to the conditional clause.

- (h) arduous, (i) fringe, (j) prohibitive, (k) exhaustive, (l) forage, (m) stacks, (n) imperative,
- (o) mediocre

Remember that some words can have a different meaning depending on their context. For example, prohibitive can also mean limiting something, or preventing something from being done (e.g., prohibitive anti-piracy laws).

In addition to looking at the context in which a word appears in order to work out its meaning, you should also identify its function (is it a noun, verb, adjective, adverb, etc?). Some of the words in Exercise 2 can have a different function without changing their form, depending on how they are used (e.g., burden can be a verb as well as a noun).

⇒ The words and phrases in this module are particularly useful for the IELTS Listening Test (where you may hear someone describing how something works) or Part 1 of the IELTS Writing Test (where you may be shown a picture or diagram of something, and have to explain how it works).

1. A thermostat

A thermostat contact and the switch is disconnected. The thermostat is adjusted using a dial or other control.

2. A disc player

A disc player (for example, in a computer) has several component parts. A disc is inserted into the player and begins to spin. At the same time, a thin beam of light called a laser strikes the disc and converts digital signals into sounds or images, which can be heard through speakers or viewed on a screen. Volume or brightness can be increased or decreased by means of a button, knob or other control. Nowadays, discs are largely being replaced by storage devices like memory sticks, which have no moving parts.

3. An aerosol

In an aerosol, liquid and gas are compressed in a metal and / or hard plastic tube. This can be released from the tube by pushing a button, which opens a valve. When the liquid–gas combination leaves the tube and mixes with oxygen, it rapidly expands.

4. An aircraft

Most aircraft are made of aluminium, and require two forces to allow them to fly: thrust and lift. As the aircraft moves forward on the ground under the power of its engines, air flows over the wings. As it accelerates / moves faster, creating / producing more thrust, a vacuum is created / formed over the wings. This creates / produces lift. The aircraft is pulled into the air by the force of this lift.

5. A digital camera

A digital camera consists of two main parts: a body and a lens. When a button is pressed on the body, a window in the lens called a shutter opens and light enters the camera. The amount of light going into the camera is controlled by both the speed of this shutter, and a smaller window called an aperture. Both the shutter speed and the size of the aperture can be adjusted by the person using the camera. The light hits a sensor in the body of the camera, which records the light as a digital image. The image is recorded / stored on a memory card in the camera, and this can later be downloaded onto a computer.

Other words and phrases you might find useful include: fold, reflect, reverse, revolve, start, stop, turn, turn down, turn up, unfold, unwind, upload, wind

Note: When we describe how an object works and there is no other person or agent involved in our description, we use the active voice ('...light enters the camera...', '...the metals expand...'). When there is a person involved in the process, we usually use the passive voice (is I are + a past participle: 'The thermostat is adjusted...', '...liquid and gas are compressed...'). We use the passive voice when we do not know who does the action or process, or because we do not need to say who does it.

The incorrectly-spelt words are underlined and corrected below.

Despite banning tobacco advertising and raising the price of cigarettes, the government's antismoking campaign has failed to have any long-term effects. It is now widely believed that more drastic measures are necessary. A new national committee, which has been formed to tackle the problem, has made several recommendations. These include banning smoking in all public areas, and denying hospital treatment to persistent smokers who have been warned by their doctors to give up but failed to do so.

It is arguable whether good pronunciation is more important than good grammar and vocabulary. Conscientious students balance their acquisition of these skills, hoping to achieve both fluency and accuracy. English teachers should encourage their students to practise all the relevant language skills, and use their English at every opportunity.

It is becoming increasingly difficult for many people to find decent accommodation in the city at a price they can afford. To put it simply, there are too many people and not enough homes for them. Local community centres and charitable organisations such as Home Front can offer advice, but it is widely agreed that the situation is no longer manageable. The fact that some councils in the city are building cheap, temporary housing for lower-paid professionals is the only official acknowledgement of this problem.

Pages 56 – 57 Useful Interview expressions

Agreeing with somebody: I agree. / I couldn't agree more. / That's just what I think. / That's my view exactly. / That's right.

Disagreeing with somebody: I don't entirely agree. / I'm afraid I disagree / don't agree. / I see things rather differently myself. / Well, actually... / Well, as a matter of fact,...

Interrupting somebody: Could I just say that...? / Excuse me for interrupting,... / Let me interrupt you there. / Sorry to butt in,... / Sorry to interrupt,... (You shouldn't interrupt the examiner too often. In any case, the examiner will leave you to do most of the talking)

Asking somebody for their opinion: Do you agree that...? / What are your feelings about...? / What are your views on...? / What do you think about...? / What's your opinion? (You probably won't need to use these expressions yourself in the Speaking Test, but you are likely to hear the examiner use them)

Asking for clarification or repetition: Could you repeat the question? / I'm afraid I didn't catch that. / I'm sorry? / What was that? / Would you mind repeating that?

Saying something in another way: In other words... / Perhaps I should make that clearer by saying... / To put it another way,... / What I'm trying to say is... / What I mean is...

Giving yourself time to think: Hmm, how can I put / say this? / Let me see. / Let me think about that for a moment. / May I think about that for a moment? / That's an interesting question.

Summing up what you have said: So, basically,... / In short / brief,... / So, in conclusion,... / To summarise,... / To sum up,...

Pages 89 - 90 Money & finance

- 1. Profit is the money you gain from selling something, which is more than the money you paid for it. Loss is money you have spent and not got back.
- 2. Extravagant describes someone who spends a lot of money. Frugal describes someone who is careful with money. Economical describes something that is not expensive to use or run.
- 3. A current account is a bank account from which you can take money at any time. A deposit account is a bank account which pays you interest if you leave money in it for some time (we can also say savings account or notice account).
- 4. A loan is money which you borrow to buy something. A mortgage is a special kind of loan used to buy property (a house, a flat, etc.) over a period of time.
- 5. To deposit money is to put money into a bank account. To withdraw money is to take money out of a bank account (deposit can be a noun or a verb. The noun of withdraw is withdrawal).

- 6. A wage and a salary are money you earn for doing a job, but a wage is usually paid daily or weekly, and a salary is usually paid monthly. We also use salary to describe the amount of money you earn over a year (He earns an annual salary of £40,000).
- 7. If you are broke, you have no money. This is an informal word. If you are bankrupt, you are not able to pay back money you have borrowed. This is a very serious financial situation for someone to be in.
- 8. In the UK, shares are one of the many equal parts into which a company's capital is divided. People who buy them are called shareholders. Stocks are shares which are issued by the government. Dividends are parts of a company's profits shared out among the shareholders.
- 9. Income tax is a tax on money earned as wages or a salary. Excise duty is a tax on certain goods produced in a country, such as cigarettes or alcohol.
- 10. To credit someone's bank account is to put money into the account. To debit someone's bank account is to take money out. In the UK, many people pay for telephone bills, etc., using a system called direct debit, where money is taken directly from their bank account by the company providing the goods or services.
- 11. Traditionally, a bank is a business organisation which keeps money for customers and pays it out on demand, or lends them money. A building society is more usually associated with saving money or lending people money to buy property. These days, there is very little difference between them.
- 12. A discount is the percentage by which a full price is reduced to a buyer by the seller. A refund is money paid back when, for example, returning something to a shop (it can also be a verb: to refund).
- 13. A bargain is something which is bought more cheaply than usual. Something which is overpriced is too expensive. Something which is exorbitant costs much more than its true value (£12 for a cheese sandwich? That's exorbitant!).
- 14. A worthless object is something which has no value. A priceless object is an extremely valuable object.
- 15. If you save money, you put it to one side so that you can use it later. If you invest money, you put it into property, shares, etc., so that it will increase in value.
- 16. Inflation is a state of economy where prices and wages increase. Deflation is a reduction in economic activity.
- 17. Income is the money you receive for doing something. Expenditure is the money you spend.

 18. If you lend money, you let someone use your money for a certain period of time. If you borrow money from someone, you take money for a time, usually paying interest (Can you lend me £20) until the end of the month?).

Notes:

Most large towns and cities in the UK have 'Park and Ride' schemes. These are large car parks outside city centres where drivers can park their cars, often for free. They can then take a bus into the city centre.

Distances and speed limits in the UK are in miles (1 mile = about 1.6 kilometres) and miles per hour (mph). The maximum speed limit is 60mph on single-lane roads outside towns, or 70mph on dual carriageways and motorways (although this may increase to 80mph on motorways in the near future). In most built-up areas, the maximum speed limit is usually 20 or 30mph. Drivers who are caught speeding can face penalties ranging from a fine to imprisonment, depending on how fast they were driving and where. They also receive 'penalty points' on their driving licence, and can have their licence suspended.

Drink-driving is considered a serious offence. Offenders automatically have their driving licence suspended for at least a year, will normally receive a fine and in extreme cases (especially where they cause an accident), may go to prison.
